

A photograph of two women wearing light blue surgical masks. The woman on the left is wearing a dark denim jacket and has her hands clasped. The woman on the right is wearing a dark blue uniform with yellow trim and has her hands clasped. They are standing in a hallway with a grey wall and a door frame in the background.

“I’m doing it for me”

Don't ignore your cervical screening invite

Two women die every day from cervical cancer, but getting your screening can help stop it before it starts. So remember, if you missed your last one, book an appointment with your GP practice now.

To find out more visit
nhs.uk/cervicalscreening

Screening
saves
lives

Help us
help you